

ANSA v13.0.5 CAD data translators release announcement

October 10, 2010

BETA CAE Systems S.A. announces the release of an updated version of the ANSA v13.0.5 CAD data translators for Windows and Linux platforms

What's New

New version of translation technology libraries

This version of the CAD data to ANSA translators for ANSA v13.0.5, on Windows 32bit/64bit and Linux 32bit/64bit, is available with the v2010 SP3 version of the translation technology libraries.

These libraries, among other features, now offer:

- support of CATIA V5 R20 files
- support of Pro/Engineer Wildfire 5
- support of attributes of the free geometry entities, Points and Curves, whose names can now be also transferred.

The new library versions are made available with an updated libCT.key, that resides in these libraries sub-folder at the installation location of the software at your systems. This key enables the translation technology. The translation features require both this key enabler and a respective license key from BETA CAE Systems S.A.

Code enhancements

The following code enhancements have been introduced:

- Fix of Coordinate Systems translation issues
- Reading of Composite Curves
- Support of Dlv format files translation

Compatibility

The files generated by the CAD translators of ANSA v13.0.5 can be open by ANSA v13.0.5 and later, including ANSA v13.1.0.

The above code enhancements and new library version are not available for ANSA v13.1.0. These will be introduced in the imminent new ANSA v13.1.1.
