BETA CAE Systems S.A. announces new distribution partnership with Xitadel group for India

BETA CAE Systems SA welcomes Xitadel group as its new distribution partner in India. Xitadel is founded by Prakash "Krish" Krishnaswamy, the technology oriented entrepreneur who founded EASi Engineering. Among Xitadel's engineering staff is the very same experienced technical team that promoted and supported our products in India throughout these years. Our co-operation with Xitadel brings new momentum to the presence of our products in the Indian market. BETA CAE Systems, Allegis Group (our partner in India up to the present), and Xitadel group, work closely to ensure a smooth transition and to meet the high customer service standards that BETA CAE Systems sets.

The new contact information which our customers may use for sales and support of our products in India are:
